SPECIAL EVENTS
2019 ALBANY BOOK FESTIVAL
THE COTTON CLUB ENCORE featuring Francis Ford Coppola
THE CREATIVE LIFE SERIES featuring Philippe Petit • Rakim

GREETINGS FROM THE DIRECTOR

We are proud to present a dynamic, diverse and exciting lineup of writers, filmmakers and creative artists for our fall 2019 events calendar. The schedule represents our constant striving to preserve the legacy and mission of the Writers Institute while taking this beloved organization to the next level. We continue to create fresh, original and ambitious programming that underscores our place as one of the nation’s pre-eminent literary presenting organizations and a crown jewel of the University at Albany.

We launch our fall series with legendary broadcast journalist Dan Rather on September 6. The longest-serving anchor of CBS Evening News helped make 60 Minutes and 48 Hours into critically acclaimed and top-rated news magazine programs. He will share stories and anecdotes from six decades of covering the world’s biggest events and most notable personalities. He will also discuss his recent New York Times bestseller, What Unites Us: Reflections on Patriotism. He will engage the audience in a conversation about the book and its themes of shared American values and bridging the nation’s bitter partisan divide.

Rather’s appearance serves as the lead-in to our 2nd annual Albany Book Festival on Saturday, September 14. We are building on the resounding success of our inaugural event last fall, which drew 5,000 book lovers to campus. This year, headlining authors include Joyce Carol Oates, Jamaica Kincaid, Dani Shapiro, Madhur Jaffrey, Sylvia Day, Jonathan Santlofer, Will Schwalbe, Harold Holzer, Eric Foner and more than 100 regional authors and exhibitors. You can meet your favorite authors, ask questions during panel discussions, purchase books and get them signed, participate in a writing workshop and take home a free tote bag. A major grant from the Office of UAlbany President Havidán Rodríguez and generous sponsors make it possible for us to keep this large and costly event free and open to the public. It is a celebration of a literary city that values the power and majesty of great writing.

The Albany Book Festival reinforces our mission of expanding public engagement and offering programs that foster community conversations on challenging topics with an open mind and generous heart. On September 26, bestselling author Ijeoma Oluo will discuss her book So You Want to Talk About Race, an examination of ways to address one of the most sensitive issues of our time.

On October 6, we are thrilled to welcome legendary filmmaker Francis Ford Coppola to the Writers Institute for the Albany premiere of THE COTTON CLUB ENCORE, a new director’s cut of Coppola’s cinematic sensation about the Harlem jazz club of the 1930s. Coppola re-edited the film and restored music and dance numbers removed from the 1984 original, which premiered in Albany 35 years ago thanks to William Kennedy, the film’s screenwriter and founder of the Writers Institute. We are proud to present THE COTTON CLUB ENCORE and a conversation between Coppola and Kennedy on stage at the Hart Theatre in The Egg. The premiere is a fundraiser for our upcoming major new initiative, the inaugural Albany Film Festival on March 28, 2020. We are planning an amazing event that will explore the intersection of writing and filmmaking. Save the date and join us as we take the Writers Institute to new heights.

Dan Rather, eminent TV news journalist, presents his new bestseller What Unites Us (2019), a reflection on what it means to be an American, and a reaffirmation of our nation’s founding principles. CNN said the book “stirringly melds memoir with a meditation on American values, including patriotism, inclusion and dissent.” The son of a Texas oilfield ditch-digger, Rather was the first in his family to attend college. He spent four decades at CBS News where he covered the defining stories of the 1960s, including the Kennedy assassination, Vietnam War, and civil rights movement. From 1966-1974, he served as White House correspondent, covering Watergate and other events. He succeeded Walter Cronkite as anchor of the CBS Evening News (1981-2005). The recipient of 33 Emmy awards, he currently hosts Dan Rather’s America on SiriusXM radio and The Big Interview with Dan Rather featuring in-depth discussions with celebrity guests on the AXS TV cable network. An internet sensation at age 87, he has been dubbed “Facebook’s favorite news anchor” (Columbia Journalism Review). Sponsored by the UAlbany Student Association, Division of Student Affairs, Alumni Association, and UAS in partnership with the NYS Writers Institute.

SEPTEMBER

THE WRITERS INSTITUTE IN NYC

September 17 (Tuesday)
Beth Macy
journalist and bestselling author

Presentation/Q&A — 6:00 p.m.
[REGISTRATION REQUIRED]
SUNY Global Center,
116 E 55th St, New York, NY

First 100 registered attendees will receive a free copy of Beth Macy’s New York Times bestseller, Dopesick: Dealers, Doctors, and the Drug Company that Addicted America (paperback, 2019) at the event.

Event to include a pre-event reception and book signing.

Named one of the “top five books of 2018” by Janet Maslin of the New York Times, Dopesick is the first book to fully chronicle the widespread impact of the opioid crisis over the course of 20 years, from the mining communities of Appalachia to cities, suburbs and rural communities throughout America.

As a reporter for the Roanoke Times in the Appalachian region of western Virginia for a quarter century, Macy had a front row seat to the unfolding of one of the worst drug crises in U.S. history. Macy is the author of two previous bestsellers: Factory Man: How One Furniture Maker Battled Offshoring, Stayed Local — and Helped Save an American Town (2014), currently in development for an HBO miniseries produced by Tom Hanks, and Truevine: Two Brothers, a Kidnapping, and a Mother’s Quest: A True Story of the Jim Crow South (2016).

This event marks the launch of “The Writers Institute in NYC,” an exciting new partnership between the SUNY Chancellor’s Office and the NYS Writers Institute to bring the Institute’s nationally-recognized conversation series to the heart of Midtown Manhattan.

To register, visit our website: www.nyswritersinstitute.org

September 20 (Friday)
SANJURO
Screening — 7:30 p.m., Page Hall,
135 Western Avenue, Downtown Campus
(Japan, 1963, 96 minutes, b/w, Japanese with English subtitles)
Directed by Akira Kurosawa.

In this all-time samurai classic, a jaded, lazy older warrior, played by Toshiro Mifune, mentors a group of inexperienced samurai in their battles with corrupt clan leaders. The film helped to invent a new breed of cynical, untrustworthy heroes who would live on in countless action films throughout the world.

SO YOU WANT TO TALK ABOUT RACE

September 26 (Thursday)
Ijeoma Oluo
bestselling author

Craft Talk — 4:15 p.m.,
Multi-Purpose Room,
Campus Center West Addition
Conversation/Q&A
7:30 p.m., Campus Center West Auditorium

Ijeoma Oluo is the author of the New York Times bestseller, So You Want to Talk About Race (paperback 2019), a frank how-to manual for engaging in conversation about one of the most sensitive issues of our time. The Salon reviewer said, “Generous and empathetic, yet usefully blunt.... It’s for anyone who wants to be smarter and more empathetic about matters of race.” Named one of The Root’s 100 Most Influential African Americans in 2017, Oluo has written about race, economics, feminism and social justice for TIME, The Washington Post, Elle, and The Guardian.

In honor of the 50th Anniversary of UAlbany’s Educational Opportunities Program (EOP), celebrating a half century of providing opportunity for academic achievement and personal advancement among the economically and educationally disadvantaged.

Also cosponsored by “400 Years of Inequality” at UAlbany, part of a national observance of the 400th Anniversary of the arrival of the first Africans to be sold into bondage in North America — in 1619 at Jamestown. Support provided by the Diversity Transformation Fund through UAlbany’s Office of Diversity and Inclusion.
OCTOBER

FILM—TEENAGERS SAVING THE PLANET

OCTOBER 4 (Friday)
INVENTING TOMORROW
Film screening and conversation/Q&A with director Laura Nix
7:00 p.m., Page Hall, 135 Western Avenue, Downtown Campus
(USA, 2018, 87 minutes, color)
Directed by Laura Nix.
Teenage inventors from India, Indonesia, Mexico and the USA, attempt to find solutions to the world’s most urgent environmental problems—including climate change, water and air pollution, and mass extinction—in this award-winning documentary, nominated for the 2018 Grand Jury Prize at Sundance. Kenneth Turan of the Los Angeles Times called it “inspirational and invigorating” and said “the young scientists… have a passion and enthusiasm that’s a tonic to the soul.”
Laura Nix received the 2018 Chicken and Egg Breakthrough Filmmaker Award, a prestigious honor bestowed annually on five women filmmakers. She also received the Sundance Institute/Discovery Impact Fellowship in 2017. Her previous films include THE YES MEN ARE REVOLTING (2014), THE LIGHT IN HER EYES (2011), and WHETHER YOU LIKE IT OR NOT: THE STORY OF HEDWIG (2003).
Screened in association with UAlbany’s new Department of Environmental and Sustainable Engineering, now offering the first Bachelor of Science degree of its kind in the United States.

September 27 (Friday)
MAN ON WIRE
Screening — 7:30 p.m., Page Hall, 135 Western Avenue, Downtown Campus
(United States, 2008, 94 minutes, color)
Directed by James Marsh.
This Oscar-winning film examines what is often called “the artistic crime of the century” — Philippe Petit’s illegal tightrope crossing between the twin towers of the World Trade Center in 1974.

October 3 (Thursday)
Philippe Petit
Demonstration & Reception — 6:00 p.m., University Art Museum
Conversation with WAMC’s Joe Donahue — 7:00 p.m., Recital Hall, Performing Arts Center
One of the greatest high wire artists of all time, Philippe Petit is also a magician, juggler, visual artist and writer. He is the author and illustrator of several books, including Creativity: The Perfect Crime (2014), a manifesto about the creative process. Translated and introduced by novelist Paul Auster, Petit’s new book is On the High Wire (2019), which the author first published in French in 1972 at the age of 23. Filmmaker Werner Herzog said, “This is a book of instructions to those who will dare one day the impossible.”
Major support for The Creative Life is provided by The University at Albany Foundation, The John D. Picotte Family Foundation and Stewart’s Shops/Dake Family. Additional support is provided by the College of Arts and Sciences, Office of Intercultural Student Engagement and University Auxiliary Services.

SHIRKERS

Screening followed by conversation/Q&A

NIKKI GIOVANNI, major American poet

October 10 (Thursday)

Reading — 7:00 p.m., Campus Center Ballroom

Nikki Giovanni, activist, mother, professor, firebrand, healer and sage, is one of the leading poets of her generation, a seven-time NAACP Image Award winner, and the first recipient of the Rosa Parks Woman of Courage Award. She presents her new book, A Good Cry: What We Learn from Tears and Laughter (paperback, 2018), a wide-ranging memoir about the joys and perils of aging; the violence of her parents’ marriage and her early life; the people who have given her life meaning; the grandparents who took her in and saved her life; the poets and thinkers who influenced her; and the students who gave her life purpose.

Sponsored by the University at Albany’s Department of Africana Studies in partnership with the NYS Writers Institute to celebrate the Department’s half century of excellence.

Films presented by the University at Albany’s Center for International Education & Global Strategy and Intensive English Language Program.
THE TYRANNY OF VIRTUE
October 17 (Thursday)

Robert Boyers
author and professor of English

Craft Talk — 4:15 p.m., Multi-Purpose Room, Campus Center West Addition

Robert Boyers is the author of The Tyranny of Virtue (2019), a provocative collection of essays about the decline of civility and academic freedom promoted by excesses of political correctness at America’s universities. Boyers, who defines himself as a liberal, decries the intolerance of his fellow liberals for political and intellectual diversity. Harvard Law professor Randall Kennedy said, “Instructive and inspiring... Boyers has written a probing meditation on his experiences within the left-liberal cultural bubble.” Director of the NYS Summer Writers Institute at Skidmore, Boyers founded the program in 1987.

BLACK LIKE ME: AN EXPLORATION OF THE WORD N

Jade Solomon Curtis, celebrated dance artist and choreographer, integrates classical and African-American vernacular movements with mixed-media and Hip Hop culture. Black Like Me: An Exploration of the Word N is her multidisciplinary evening length work that explores the reverberation of a single word in a global community.

Sponsored by the Performing Arts Center, this engagement is made possible by the New England Foundation for the Arts' National Dance Project, with lead funding from the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation and The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation. Cosponsored by 400 Years of Inequality.

NEW GOLDEN AGE OF AFRICAN AMERICAN HORROR

October 18 (Friday)

HORROR NOIRE

Film screening and conversation/Q&A with director

Xavier Burgin

7:00 p.m., Page Hall, 135 Western Avenue, Downtown Campus
(United States, 2019, 83 minutes, English)

Film historian Dr. Robin R. Means Coleman argues that Hollywood is beginning a new “golden age for black horror films.” HORROR NOIRE, a documentary based on Coleman’s book of the same name, features leading figures of Black horror cinema, including Jordan Peele (GET OUT), Tony Todd (CANDYMAN), and Tina Mabry (MISSISSIPPI DAMNED). The film also explores the history of the genre, shedding new light on how African American characters and creators were used, misused and mistreated across a century of cinema. This is the very first documentary produced by AMC Networks’ new horror video streaming service, Shudder.

Twenty-something director Xavier Burgin is an Emmy nominated filmmaker, Sundance Lab Fellow, HBO Finalist, and a director on the Emmy nominated series, Giants, produced by Issa Rae Presents.

Cosponsored by “400 Years of Inequality” at UAlbany.
TEACHER AND STUDENT IN CONVERSATION

October 24 (Thursday)
Sharon Olds and Ocean Vuong

Craft Talk — 4:15 p.m., Multi-Purpose Room, Campus Center West Addition
Presentation/Conversation — 7:30 p.m., Campus Center West Auditorium

Major poet Sharon Olds joins her former student Ocean Vuong, rising star of American poetry.

Sharon Olds, New York State Poet (1998-2000), is renowned for poetry that examines marriage, motherhood, intimacy, and the human condition. She received the Pulitzer Prize in Poetry for Stag's Leap (2012), a poignant account of being left by her husband for another woman after 30 years of marriage. Her honors include the 2016 Wallace Stevens Award, the Lamont Poetry Prize, and the National Book Critics Circle Award. A professor at NYU, she cofounded the NYU Goldwater Hospital Writing Workshop for the severely physically challenged, and the NYU Veterans Writing Workshop for veterans of Iraq and Afghanistan. Her new collection, Arias (2019), explores political conscience, race and class in poems delivered with operatic passion, anguish and solo force. She is the author of 13 previous collections including The Father (1992) and Odes (2016).

Born in Saigon, Ocean Vuong spent a year in a refugee camp as a baby and migrated to America when he was two years old. A leading poet of his generation, he writes poetry that explores the immigrant experience, queer life, and lingering impact of the Vietnam War. His debut novel, On Earth We’re Briefly Gorgeous, has been named one of the most anticipated books of 2019 by the Los Angeles Times, Boston Globe, Oprah.com and more. The Washington Post said it "explode[s] the very structure of traditional narrative, and the pages break apart into the lines of an evocative prose poem — not so much briefly gorgeous as permanently stunning." His debut poetry collection, Night Sky with Exit Wounds, was a New York Times “Top Ten Book of 2016,” and the second-ever debut collection to win the T. S. Eliot Prize.

Cosponsored by the Honors College at UAlbany.

MAKING THE MARVELOUS MRS. MAISEL

October 25 (Friday)
Kate Fodor

Screening of TV clips from The Marvelous Mrs. Maisel, and conversation/Q&A with Kate Fodor — 7:00 p.m., Page Hall, 135 Western Avenue, Downtown Campus

Award-winning playwright Kate Fodor has also served as writer, story editor, executive story editor and producer on the Amazon Prime runaway hit series The Marvelous Mrs. Maisel, the story of a 1950s Upper West Side housewife who discovers a previously unknown talent — stand-up comedy. The show received numerous awards in its first year, including Primetime Emmys in 2018 for Outstanding Comedy Series and Outstanding Writing, a 2019 Golden Globe for Best Television Series, and a 2019 Writers Guild Award. Fodor earned wide acclaim for her debut play, Hannah and Martin (2004), based on the tumultuous love affair between Jewish political theorist Hannah Arendt and influential German philosopher (and Nazi sympathizer) Martin Heidegger. Her other plays include Fifty Ways, RX, and 100 Saints You Should Know, named one of the best plays of the year by Time Out New York, Entertainment Weekly, and Theater Yearbook.

Cosponsored by the Jarka & Grayce Susan Burian Endowment and the University at Albany Theatre Program.

(Iran, 1987, 83 minutes, color, Persian with English subtitles) Directed by Abbas Kiarostami.

Iranian filmmaker Abbas Kiarostami (1940-2016) is widely regarded as one of the greatest filmmakers of world cinema. This film— the first in Kiarostami’s world-renowned trilogy set in the village of Koker, Iran, and digitally restored for release in 2019— tells the story of a young boy’s epic quest to return a friend’s notebook that he has accidentally taken home from school.

SUPERBugs: THE RACE TO STOP AN EPIDEMIC
November 4 (Monday)
Matt McCarthy, MD
bestselling medical author

Craft Talk — 4:15 p.m., Multi-Purpose Room, Campus Center West Addition
Presentation/Q&A — 7:30 p.m., Page Hall, 135 Western Avenue, Downtown Campus

Matt McCarthy, assistant professor of medicine at Weill Cornell and staff physician at New York-Presbyterian Hospital, is the author of Superbugs: The Race to Stop an Epidemic (2019), an insider’s account of the battle against antibiotic-resistant bacteria, and the race to develop new treatments for infections. Siddhartha Mukherjee (The Emperor of All Maladies) called it, “An amazing, informative book that changes our perspective on medicine, microbes and our future.” McCarthy’s previous bestsellers include The Real Doctor Will See You Shortly: A Physician’s First Year (2015) and Odd Man Out (2009). His work has appeared in Sports Illustrated, Slate, and The New England Journal of Medicine.

Cosponsorship for The Creative Life is provided by The University at Albany Foundation, The John D. Picotte Family Foundation and Stewart’s Shops/Dake Family. November 8 (Friday)
Keynote conversation and Q&A with Tony Shalhoub — 6:00 p.m., followed by Film screening of BIG NIGHT, introduced by Tony Shalhoub, 7:00 p.m.

Nominated for the Grand Jury Prize at Sundance, BIG NIGHT presents two brothers who attempt to save a failing Italian restaurant in New Jersey in the 1950s. Roger Ebert wrote, “BIG NIGHT is one of the great food movies, and yet it is so much more. It is about food not as a subject but as a language—the language by which one can speak to gods, can create, can seduce, can aspire to perfection.”

Discussion of BIG NIGHT, facilitated by Tony Shalhoub — 9:00 p.m.

Tony Shalhoub, Lebanese-American actor, is one of America’s great character actors. His awards include a Golden Globe for Best Actor, two Screen Actors Guild Awards and three Primetime Emmys. He received a 2018 Tony Award for Best Actor in a Musical as Tewfik Zakaria in The Band’s Visit. His TV roles include Antonio Scarpacci in the NBC sitcom Wings and detective Adrian Monk in the USA TV series Monk. He currently plays Abe Weissman, the father of the title character, on Amazon’s The Marvelous Mrs. Maisel.

The WCI Film Festival and Lecture Series is sponsored by the UAlbany Program in Writing and Critical Inquiry, with support provided by WAMC, the UAlbany Office of the Vice Provost and Dean for Undergraduate Education, the UAlbany English Department, the UAlbany Institute for Experiential Education, the UAlbany Office of Student Engagement, the UAlbany Vice President for Research, the UAlbany Alumni Association, and the NYS Writers Institute.

Aisha Saeed
November 6 (Wednesday)
Presentation/Q&A — 7:00 p.m., Albany Public Library, Washington Avenue Large Auditorium, 161 Washington Avenue, Albany

Aisha Saeed is the New York Times bestselling author of Written in the Stars (2015), the story of a Pakistani-American girl sent to Pakistan as a teenage bride to take part in a forced, traditional marriage. School Library Journal called it “Compelling... a cross-cultural eye opener." Fascinating to note, the author provides an account of her own (happily) arranged marriage in the groundbreaking nonfiction anthology, Love, InshAllah: The Secret Love Lives of American Muslim Women (2012). Saeed’s 2018 middle grade novel, Amal Unbound, presents the life of a Pakistani girl who is forced to become an indentured servant in order to pay off a family debt. The book was named the Global Read Aloud (One Book to Connect the World) middle grade book for 2018. Author of a new book in Disney's Aladdin franchise, Far From Agrabah (2019), Saeed is also a founding member of the nonprofit, We Need Diverse Books, a national organization that promotes literature for children of all backgrounds. She will spend the day with students at Albany High School before her evening presentation.

Sponsored by Albany High School in partnership with the NYS Writers Institute.

Libel in an American Town (2019), a chilling investigation of a remarkable incident of antisemitism in the upstate town of Massena, New York in 1928. After a 4-year-old girl, Barbara Griffiths, vanished in the woods, townspeople and police accused local Jews of committing “ritual murder,” a popular slander against the Jews of Europe during the Middle Ages. A native of Massena, Berenson is Professor of History and Director of the Institute of French Studies at NYU. His recent books include The Statue of Liberty. A Transatlantic Story (2012), and Heroes of Empire: Five Charismatic Men and the Conquest of Africa (2010). Recipient of the American Historical Association’s Eugene Asher Distinguished Teaching Award, he was named Chevalier de l’Ordre du Mérite by French President Jacques Chirac in 2006.

This presentation is a featured public event of the University at Albany History Department’s annual Researching New York Conference, and is cosponsored by the New York State Writers Institute, and the Programs in Judaic Studies and Religious Studies. RESEARCHING NEW YORK:
EXCLUSIVE ADVANCE SCREENING OF NEW PBS FILM

NOVEMBER 22 (Friday)
DRIVING WHILE BLACK
Film screening and conversation/Q&A with director Ric Burns and author Gretchen Sullivan Sorin — 7:00 p.m., Page Hall, 135 Western Avenue, Downtown Campus
(USA, 2020, Run Time TBD, b/w and color)
Based on over a decade of research by acclaimed African American historian Dr. Gretchen Sullivan Sorin, this feature-length documentary is directed by acclaimed filmmaker Ric Burns, and slated for broadcast on PBS during the 2020 season. Drawing on a rich archive of material from the period, Driving While Black explores the role of the automobile in the lives of African Americans in the early 20th century, and chronicles a crucial and transformative period in American racial, cultural, and social history.

Dr. Gretchen Sullivan Sorin is Distinguished Professor and Director of the Cooperstown Graduate Program of Museum Studies (SUNY). She received her Ph.D. in History from UAlbany in 2009. Her research explores the role of the automobile in the lives of African Americans during the Jim Crow era. Her forthcoming book is Driving While Black: African American Travel and the Road to Civil Rights (February 2020).

This presentation is a featured public event of the UAlbany History Department’s annual Researching New York Conference and is cosponsored by the NYS Writers Institute. Further information on the entire conference is available at www.nystatehistory.org.

CRAB SPROL

UALBANY SPEAKER SERIES

DECEMBER 4 (Wednesday)
Salman Rushdie

Conversation/Q&A — 7:30 p.m., Campus Center West Auditorium
Salman Rushdie returns to Albany to present his new novel Quichotte (2019), a dazzling homage to Spanish author Miguel de Cervantes Saavedra’s Don Quixote, the 17th century mock epic that is a founding work of Western literature and the most-translated book after the Bible. In Rushdie’s novel, a second-rate writer of spy thrillers falls in love with a TV star and sets off on a cross-country quest to prove himself worthy of her hand. Publishers Weekly called it, “a brilliant rendition of the cheesy, sleazy, scary pandemonium of life in modern times.” Salman Rushdie is widely recognized as a leading figure of world literature. His 1981 novel, Midnight’s Children, received not only the Booker Prize, but also the 1993 “Booker of Bookers” and the 2008 “Best of the Booker,” selected from all 41 winners since the prize’s inception in 1969. His other novels include The Satanic Verses (1988), The Moor’s Last Sigh (1995) and The Golden House (2017).

It’s story time...

for adults

Spellbinding short stories by established and emerging writers take on new life when they are performed by stars of stage, screen and television. Public Radio International’s wildly popular series and podcast comes to town offering a unique evening of literature in performance. Featured stories and cast will be announced in Spring 2020.

Presented in collaboration with the UAlbany Performing Arts Center with support from the University at Albany Foundation, Office of Intercultural Student Engagement and Residence Inn by Marriott.
